SEVERAL good-sized deals in local stocks occurred during the week. Chief among these was the sale of a large block of Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company stock. No definite information as to the number of shares transferred could be ascertained, but it is in the neighborhood of 2,000. The price, however, was $80 a share, or about $100,000. This quotation was several points lower than the prevailing prices in San Francisco. The deal was one of the biggest recorded this year, and for several months past. R. W. Shingle of Waterhouse and Company made the deal and would divulge no other information than that the buyers were local parties.

Waialua stock was active throughout the week, there being lively sales on yesterday afternoon's Board meeting. The stock has risen from 121 to 123. The stock books of the company closed yesterday and will remain so until after the annual meeting, to be held on February 28.

Ewa plantation shares closed yesterday at sales at 27 1/2. The stock has an upward tendency and may reach 30 next week. The books of this company are also closed until after the 27th, on which date the annual meeting of the shareholders will be held.

Ookala closed sales at 17 1/2, the stock having risen from 17 during the week. Kahuku had its innings, Broker Armitage being the buying broker of the week. A purchase of 500 shares was made by him on Thursday at 20, or a $13,000 deal.

Oahu closed weak, sales having been made as low as 158. Pioneer Mill has been selling at 117 1/2, and seems to be weak at this figure. Honouliuli is 160 bid with no stock being offered under 165. Waimanalo took a sudden jump on the Board from 147 1/2 to 165, no sales reported. Oahu Railway is still held strong at 195. Among the assessable stocks McBryde has declined to 8 1/2, paid up 13 1/2; Kihel 13 1/2, paid up 16. Bond quotations are practically the same.

The stock of the First National Bank and also the savings department of the same institution are to be listed on the Honolulu Stock and Bond Exchange within a few days. The Exchange held its annual meeting during the week and elected Jas. F. Morgan president, to succeed Colonel J. H. Fisher. The other officers elected were: Harry Armitage, vice president; Charles J. Falk, secretary, and J. R. Galt, treasurer.

SECRETARY GAGE AND RUSSIAN SUGAR.

According to a special from Washington to the Journal of Commerce, says a New York dispatch of February 4, there are two aspects to the problem of whether a countervailing duty shall be laid upon sugar imported from Russia, upon the ground that the system of regulating sugar production in Russia is equivalent to a bounty, which will be carefully considered by Secretary Gage before announcing a decision. One relates to the facts; the other to their legal interpretation. The facts were pretty well ascertained by a special agent of the Treasury who went to Russia last summer. The system is complicated, but has been fully set forth in the report which is now before Mr. Gage. The question of how the facts shall be interpreted is now under consideration.

Attorney General Griggs has been asked by Mr. Gage for his opinion. The facts appear to indicate that there is no payment by the Russian Government to the sugar growers, but a considerable tax is levied and production is restricted to a given quantity for each establishment. The excess of production must be marketed abroad, but the gross production, including that sold abroad, contributes to the adjustment of the allowance of the production of the following year. It is in the interest of producers who desire to increase their future quota to purchase the certificates of exportation from those who have produced a surplus, but a less concern to increase their quota. Thus the purchase of the certificates enables them to secure a larger allowance for the future, while the exporter receives a premium from the purchaser of the certificate over and above the price he receives for the sugar.

It is contended by the advocates of a countervailing duty that the entire machinery is under the control of the Government and that the exports do, in fact, receive a bounty through Government intervention. It is contended that there is no bounty involved, but that the entire arrangement is a sort of pooling contract between different sugar manufacturers, who are taxed heavily in any event, and receive no substantial aid from their Government. Which of these views is correct is a problem the Secretary of State must eventually decide.

MRS. PARCE'S STORY

HER TROUBLE MADE HER AFRAID TO RETIRE AT NIGHT.

Nervousness, the Disease that Wrecks
the Happiness of so Many Women, Conquered at Last

No incident of the many that are daily brought to public attention is of greater human interest than that which centers about Ellen Parce, the wife of Mr. David F. Parce, of No. 4 Spruce street, Binghamton, N. Y. The story is now published for the first time.

The reporter found Mrs. Parce seated in an easy chair under the trees in the garden of her home. In reply to his questions, Mrs. Parce said:

"It was two years ago this summer that I was in a miserable condition, as the result of hard work. I was completely run down, pale and losing flesh, and so nervous that I could not sleep or even get rest. It was dreadful to go to bed at night all worn out and lie awake for hours with nervousness. If I did fall asleep it was to wake up in the morning as tired as when I went to bed.

"My head troubled me a great deal, too, both with pain and dizziness. If I stooped over at any time I would be so dizzy I could hardly see or keep from falling down. I was troubled somewhat with indigestion at this time, but the nervousness was the greater trouble. If I became a little excited my hands would shake so I could hardly hold anything in them. I felt that something must be done, so I employed our best physicians. They did all they could for me, and although I obtained some benefit from their treatment, not one of them did me any permanent good.

"I had, of course, read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, but had never taken any of them till Mr. Robert Van Kuren of Jordan recommended them to me so strongly, from his own experience with them, that I got some, and before the first box was used up I began to feel that they were doing me good. I kept on taking them according to directions and got from them the only real permanent benefit I have had from any remedy. It did seem so good to get a night's sleep and to be refreshed by it. I am a firm believer in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and I have and shall recommend them to my friends. I generally keep a box in the house to take in case I feel a little run down."
